

295 BC

At Sentinum one of the two Consuls facing a confederation of Samnites, Etruscans, and Gallic enemies (By name, PUBLIUS DECIVS MVS) spurred his horse forward into a long charge against the Gauls and was swiftly killed.

His father had acted in the same manner in 340 BC.

295 BC

Foundation of Museum and Library at Alexandria

295 BC

Romans achieve a great victory over an army of Gauls, Samnites and Umbrians at Sentinum